Peek-a-boo, I can't see you
Everything must be grand!
Boo Rapec, they can't see me
As long as I've got me 'ead in the sand.
Peek-a-boo, it may be true —
There's something in what you've said
But I've got enough trouble in everyday life
I just bury me 'ead in the sand.

From a sheltered oasis a mile away
I observed that dreadful scene
And a single Rooum came floating down
Where my ostrich friends had bean.
Because they would not hear those words
Words we had shouted for years
Here in this genetics testing field
Is no place to bury your ears.

Cyborg scientist opens door to future

Tim Radford
Science Editor

KEVIN Warwick has just made history. The 44-year-old professor of cybernetics at Reading university got his own doctor to implant him with a silicon chip. He then opened a doorway into the future.

Actually, he opened a doorway into his own university department. As he stepped into the building, the building said: "Welcome, Professor Warwick."

Professor Warwick has — for one week only — a little glass capsule containing a chip and a magnetic coil sewn under the dermis of his arm just above his left elbow. It is a smart card, so to speak, up his sleeve.

The smart card is not a new idea. The smart building is not a new idea. And silicon implants have been part of medical science for years.

But yesterday, the three things met and began to do a new kind of business. The Reading cybernetics department doorway can distinguish between people with smart cards and people without. It opens doors for those it recognises, and tracks them through the building.

Prof Warwick's left elbow is a step beyond, into the world of the X-Files and Big Brother. As his elbow moves through a radio field, the coil within it becomes electrically charged and powers a unique signal from the smart chip attached to it. "The potential of such a technology is enormous," he said yesterday. "For instance it would be quite possible to implant an Access or Visa card into an individual on a silicon chip."

Prof Warwick and two colleagues — Grant Foster and Darren Wenn — have been working on the network that link simple microprocessors throughout buildings and the implications for the office of tomorrow.

Prof Warwick's implant is a tiny cylinder 25mm long and 3mm wide and it was sewn into him at 4pm on Monday by his physician, George Boulos.

If you wanted to know where Kevin Warwick was, you had only to look on a department computer screen. It checked him from one office to another. Tomorrow's intelligent building could clock him in and out, open doors for him, turn on lights, switch on heaters. The building itself would start learning. It would recognise his place in the hierarchy.

chy, remember his preferences of lighting levels and office temperatures. It could switch on any computer he approached, log him on and have his e-mail ready to read. "This really is a step beyond," says the professor of cybernetics to become a true cyborg — part man, part machine — is therefore rather appropriate."

the past, the building being aware of who is in it, being able to track those people, is a step beyond."

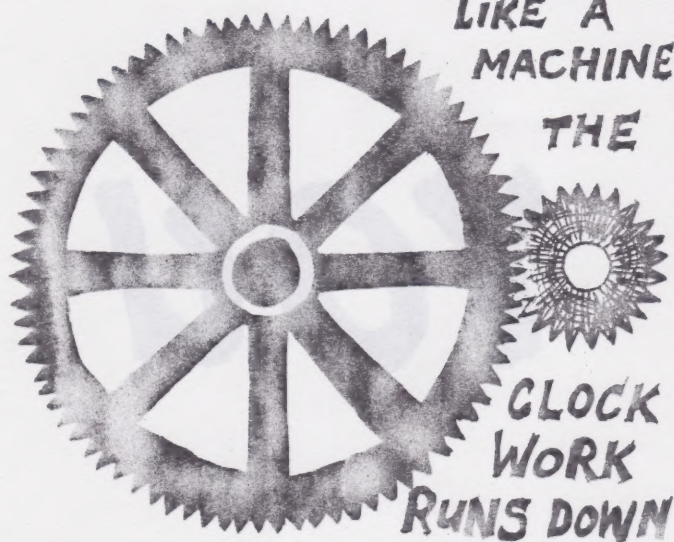

He added: "Cybernetics is all about humans and technology interacting. For a professor of cybernetics to become a true cyborg — part man, part machine — is therefore rather appropriate."

WORKERISM IS DEAD - THE CLASS STRUGGLE IS A MYTH, LEFTIST ORTHODOXY IS A DEAD RELIGION

Way back when, large numbers of people believed in workerism, and acted in accordance with those doctrines. The political beliefs of workerism had an effect on the political landscape. It was mostly a matter of credibility. It did not matter if those beliefs were true or false, provided people acted on them.

Soon after, political institutions were set up and built up their own momentum, their own rationale. The political beliefs took second place as a causal factor. The institution took over. The institution was like a machine, it did its job. The rank and file members still believed, but were not so active. It was really the institutional machine that did all the work.

Later still, because they had become passive, the numbers of true believers went into decline. The institutions were still there, being run by officials and hierarchs, but the beliefs of workerism were no longer an active factor. The hierarchs had a vested interest in keeping the institutions going, for they provided the officials with rank and self-importance. Even now, your Workerist Commissars will cling to this no matter what.

Later still, the activity died, and all that was left were the magazines and papers, the pure 'spiritual', mental action of 'believing' the doctrines themselves, without reference to physical facts. Everything is now directed to inwardly defending leftist orthodoxy against the 57 varieties of rival leftist sect. The wheels are not connected to the real world at all. They are going nowhere. Their belief system is bankrupt and empty. Welcome to the wonderful workerist world, suckers!

BY TOM RAWSTORNE AND ALEX HENDRY

ARMS aloft and screaming defiance, a protester stands on the roof of a police van in the City of London yesterday as chaos engulfed Britain's financial heartland.

More than 6,000 people took to the streets in what was billed as a Carnival Against Capitalism, but the protest degenerated into violence and fear, leaving a trail of destruction put at £5million. Dozens of people were hurt as the demonstrators clashed with riot police. Windows were smashed, buildings stormed and

GMO deliberate release sites 1999

Compiled by genetiX snowball Tel 0161 834 0295 or email genetixsnowball@orangenet.co.uk for more details

Please Note: These are the deliberate release sites which are in the environment in Spring /Summer '99 there will be more sites later in the year, so please keep in contact. The information supplied below has been assembled from various sources, and is only as accurate as the information supplied to us. It is essential to look for yourself and preferably confirm the location with the farmer before any genetiX snowball actions.

If you do go and look then please tell us the results. If any of this information needs updating please let us know, there is enough misinformation already without us spreading it. Please refer to the Handbook for Action for a detailed description of how to locate a deliberate release site.

Key:

GMO ref. is a unique number which refers to each deliberate release, as you can see there may be several sites within each consent.

P # is the page number to find that consent in the GMO Public Register Index SF: Found in the comments column, this indicates that the site has been found

NSL: these are trials for the National Seed List, this is the final regulatory hurdle before commercial planting

Nibbled Site decontaminated The please call GEN on 0181 374 9561 if you have any further information. The angry (unaccountable) guinea pigs have been biting back!

NSL: these are trials for the National Seed List, this is the final regulatory hurdle before commercial planting.

Please note there are several research farms which have several test field sites for non-GM plants as well as several GM deliberate release sites, this makes identifying and inspecting deliberate release sites problematic. Examples include The NIAB (National Institute Agricultural Biology) Huntingdon Road, (the centre of seed certification in the country) The various ADAS (Agricultural Development & Advisory Service) centres & Morley Research. However all of these sites have deliberate releases that are purely commercial releases.

Active releases: 92 NSL releases: 44 Companies growing plants: 19 Not for snowballing → Monsanto releases: 19 AgroEvo / PGS releases: 21

TO MEMBERS OF LIBERTY

To campaign for civil rights is laudable, but today, the authoritarian state is rolling forward its frontiers like never before. We cannot afford to get it wrong. During the 1970's and 1980's the thought police bugged and surveilled the NCCL, officials like Harriet Harman and Patricia Hewitt. Things have changed now, for in the late 1990's we learn that MI5 Anne Machon works in the 'Liberty' office. To the people under attack by the totalitarian system, this looks unbelievably establishment and cosy.

Contrast the treatment 'Liberty' gave to MI5 "renegade" David Shayler with that given to the GANDALF trial, where six radical magazine editors were put on trial for twelve weeks, and eventually three of us were jailed, this in England, so-called bastion of free speech. Yet Liberty's front man even acted as Shayler's legal adviser while people in Liberty doubtless say "GANDALF who?" Do you think the Liberty leaders can even name the three jailed?

It is not about personalities. Thatcher, Major, Blair - elect another party and your problems stay the same. The real problem is structure, which functions as a substitute for the activity of individual members. The office, elitism, hierarchy, expertism function as a power bloc. When some new draconian law allowing internet tapping or CCTV face recognition software gets brought in, who do the media contact? The nice safe mediagenic establishment voices in Liberty central office. "Er - well CCTV's aren't very nice...." Is that it? - So all the strong civil liberties campaigns you ought to have, fade out in feebleness. So what will you do when Kevin Warwick's cyborg chips are compulsorily fitted to babies? Welcome to the Borg collective, suckers! - You don't know who Kevin Warwick is?

Time to find out. Time to be pro-active. Time to by-pass that central office. As it is, High Command exists to police and minimise dissent, syphon it off into unproductive avenues. Faced with the march of the Totalitarian Reich, we need People Power, widespread civil disobedience like that which brought down the Berlin Wall - not late night Radio 4 interviews. That sort of substitutionary tokenism is as much use as a chocolate tea pot.

Dear Lancaster Bomber,

I urge you to rethink your feature titled variously 'Community Results Page' and 'Community Resistance' (ALB 25), not because this kind of feature results in prosecution (as in the Gandalf case) but due to the confusion it engenders.

Both your feature and the 'Diary of Community Resistance' in Green Anarchist indiscriminately mix together news items concerning intentional acts of resistance with other items which may or may not - depending upon the interpretation attached to them - be read as instances of social decomposition. Some of these latter are very ambiguous phenomena. Yet, by characterising them as 'Community Results' or 'Community Resistance', both ALB and GA imply their approval of these actions. In this context, the ALB/GA position that 'Anarchism is about thinking for yourself' is clearly disingenuous. Certainly, readers have the option of disagreeing with ALB/GA's presentation of news items, but you should be aware that you are exerting a subtle pressure toward sanctioning your (apparent) approval of them. You should also be aware that this mixing together of diverse items also leaves you wide open to ideological opponents who are all too willing to seize on items such as this to prove that you condone - even advocate - the acts of violence, mayhem and murder that make up part of your chronicle.

On a further level, my sense is that your choice of terminology is all wrong. Both ALB and GA use the word 'community' in a positive sense to characterise the material collated in their respective diaries. Yet 'community' is one of those words which has become so debased in contemporary society that it means nothing (think, for example, of media phrases such as 'the business community' or 'the international community'). In Future Primitive (pp. 157-9), Zerzan defines 'community' as 'a concept invoked to establish solidarity, often when the basis for such affiliation is absent or when the actual content of that affiliation contradicts the stated political goal of solidarity' and ends up refusing the term. 'The refusal of community might be termed a self-defeating isolation but it appears preferable, healthier, than declaring an allegiance to the daily fabric of an increasingly self-destructive world The defense of community is a conservative gesture that faces away from the radical break required.' If community - as Zerzan and countless others have demonstrated - is dead in actuality, and now exists merely as a term which helps maintain the current social order, why are ALB and GA still affirming it? When the two publications make use of the term, to what or whom are they referring, exactly?

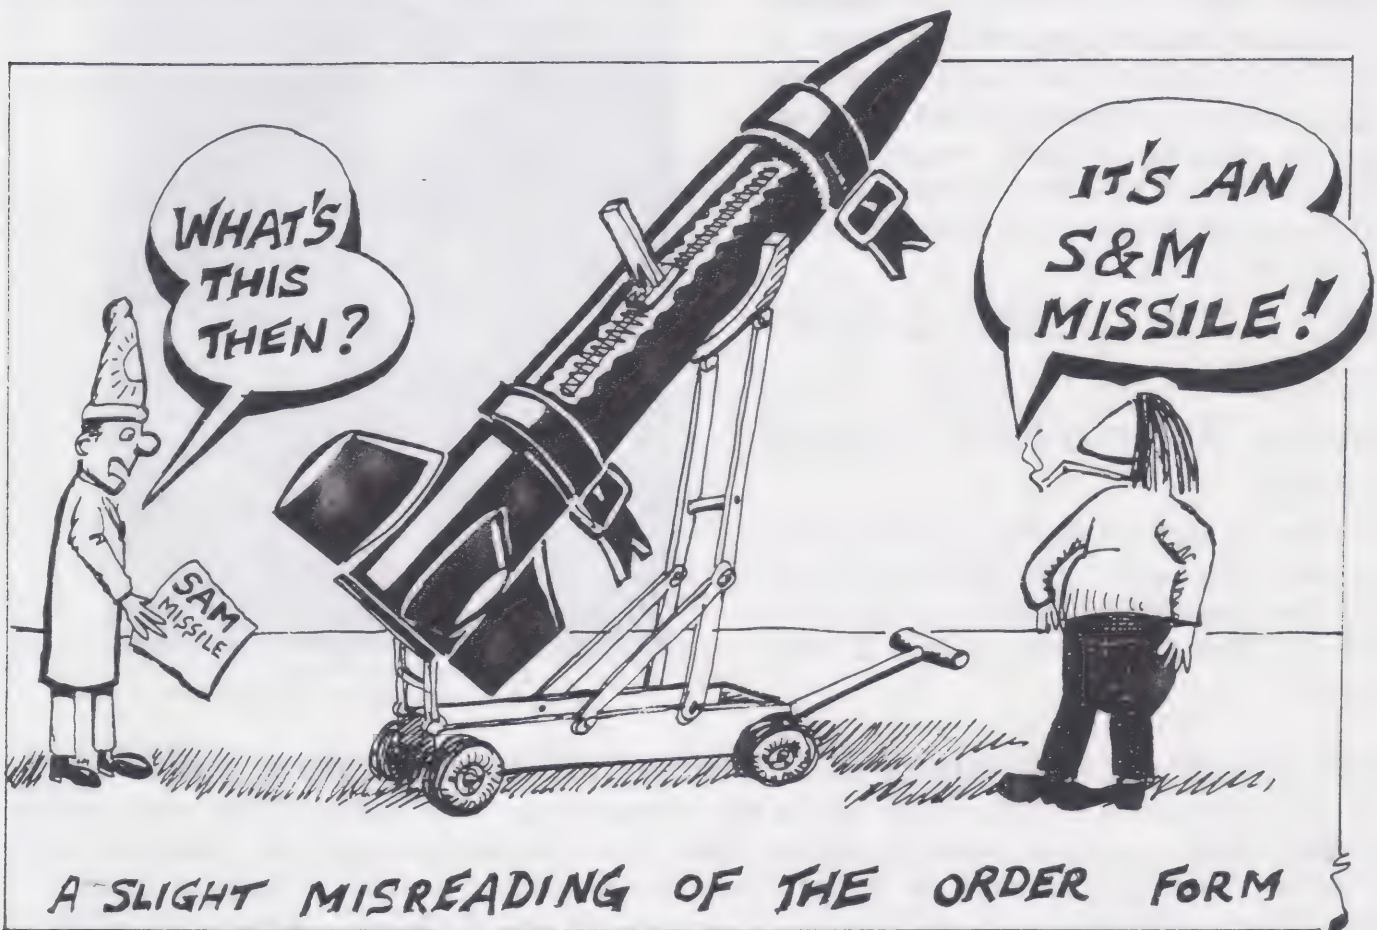

Second, if 'community' is an inappropriate term, 'resistance' seems ill-advised, but 'results' completely misguided. 'Results' clearly implies approval (as in the phrase 'we got a result') because it implies a positive outcome. Surely, though, this cannot be what you mean by chronicling the acts of carnage which comprise part of your diary - particularly as many of these acts are given no contextualising information which might help the reader to determine their nature. Further, in what sense is the death of a Tory MP a 'result' (I'm assuming it was a natural death)? And even less is this the case when you report Ken Livingstone's presence at a 'Lord Mayor of London anti-Blair fix rally'! What kind of 'result' is that? And which 'community' benefitted from that? And what the hell does it have to do with anarchism??

I think that both GA and ALB need to rethink these features and exercise more care in presenting material to their readers in order to prevent misunderstandings and deliberate misrepresentations of their positions.

Salud.

GET RID OF THE ROYALS!

You may have seen the TV programme recently about the Movement Against the Monarchy and our attempts to organise thousands of people to get onto the streets to get rid of the Royals. Well now's the chance to get involved and meet other anti Royalists. This will also be a good opportunity to publicize other Anti-Royal activity and what we're going to do about the wedding of the 'Clown' Prince, Edward

MAY 2nd 1999 2-5pm
Conway hall, Red Lion Square, Holborn tube, Central London.

Movement Against the Monarchy introduction and ideas swapping. How are we going to build the peoples' campaign against the Royals? Then to the pub to have a drink together.

ODD-JOB MAN: Edward... the It's A Royal Knockout Clown Prince

June 18th from 6pm onwards in Trafalger Square, central London.

After the Reclaim the City events during the working day - The even bigger Anti- Royal Wedding Rally. A good point to gather later on if people get split up during earlier activities. Creating a Royal Free Zone in the evening summer sun, so bring your drinks!

June 19th, Windsor, in the Royal county of Berkshire. 4pm onwards.

Apart from buses, trains go direct to one of the two central Windsor train stations from Waterloo, and you can also get their via Slough from Paddington. The Royal Wedding in St Georges Chapel is inside the grounds of Windsor Castle and starts at 5pm [Somehow we don't think they'll let us in] So outside from 5pm onwards we're going to make as much noise as possible, bring your claxons. Meet at 4pm in The Fort and Firkin pub, River street, central Windsor - half way between the two train stations and very close to the castle.

CAMPAIGN FOR REAL PROTESTS

29th MAY 1999.

SADDAM OR SLOBBO ?

Everything the state does, even seemingly for the good, is bad. The US/NATO bombing in Serbia, as one example. Good for military contracts. Good for builders reconstructing Belgrade afterwards. Good to take attention away from domestic issues. Bad for ordinary people. The system feeds off wars like a vampire feeds off blood. If Slobbodam Husseinovich did not exist, it would be necessary to invent him.

CRISIS

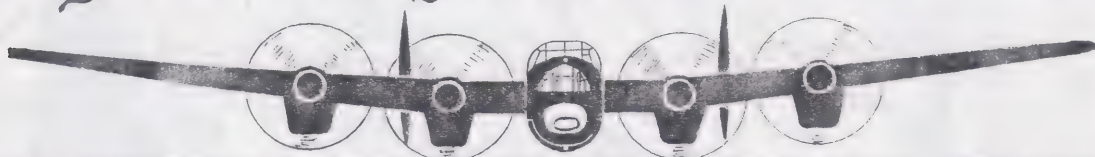

We live in a condition of permanent, artificially generated crisis. Most of those protesting against the US/NATO bombing of Serbia are sincere, long-standing peace protesters and do so as a matter of good conscience. At the same time, it is not enough to complain about US Empire-Building aggression, without providing some means for the Kossovars to oppose Serbian genocide. We need to arm the KLA, or some other, similar group.

BLOODSUCKERS

The peace protests are, however, being used as a band-wagon for the Socialists Workers Party (=SWP). All these are interested in is selling papers and recruitment. Why should the Quaker people, CND, and others tolerate being used as SWP recruiting sergeants? - What do the protests look like to Joe Public, with all the SWP placards waving in the pictures? 'Same old Rentamob'. The presence of the SWP is an obstacle to ordinary people getting involved.

WHY LET THOSE PARASITES USE YOU?

Political history and experience confirms the thoroughly negative influence of the SWP. They have no real commitment to any of the issues they latch on to. Once the issue stops selling papers + providing recruits - they'll be off. So long as they are involved, you are wasting your time campaigning. The SWP are a total obstacle to any real campaign. Refuse to work with them !

ANARCHIST LANCASTER BOMBER, BM1715, LONDON WC1N 3XX

Underneath is an excerpt from a magazine called 'Tabula Rasa' which was sent to the ALB anonymously. We think it came from Greece but had a lot of interesting things to say, and is worth checking out.

LORD PORRIDGE AND THE GREEN COMMODITY

Sir Jonathan Porrit, son of a Lord, is also the ecological adviser to big ears Charles Windsor. The would be next King of England. Porrit was once a member of Friends of the Earth. He made sure those with critical ideas were thrown out. He even managed to force out founding members of FOE. Porrit is a real pig. He is not against the commodity system, but only its excesses. He wants green commodities. Another lie! Porrit's job is to recuperate as many ecological protests as possible for his master Charles the Turd. Charlie is a right Charlie. He can play both cards at once, ie. The ecologist and the anti-ecological ones. For example he can talk about birds (feathered) and go the next day grouse hunting. He can talk about car pollution and drive away in his de luxe Aston-Martin, a real petrol guzzler. He can talk of the plight of animals and ride six polo ponies to death, etc... Contradiction after contradiction, so what. Big Ears is a walking contradiction and anachronism. He must sometimes wake up screaming especially when Queen Camilla is next to him. He will never be King. Hopefully his son too! Royalty must be abolished! He has managed through his Prince's Trust to attract all sorts of celebs who are keen to help stem the tide of anger, because they are loaded. As for Porrit he is a despicable toff, he ought to have earth shoved down his fucking throat.

The secret service in Greece is called EYTI (APE). An appropriate name for state gorillas. It's former name was KYTI.

At last it can be told Alexander the Great died of syphilis not of the plague. It took 2,300 years to say it.

The confessor of Bill Clinton father Campolo said: "I am here to prick his conscience" or maybe he meant to inject a bit of conscience in his prick. But as we all know a stiff prick has no conscience. Clinton is the living proof. A laughable bourgeois farce!

Monika Lewinski saved the Clinton marriage! Clinton hopes the war in the Gulf will revamp his image. Saddam insane is a tyrant.

On ne sait jamais avec qui on va vivre, le mariage nous l'apprend.

WHERE IS DUMBO?

Another little shit called David "Dumbo" Dunbar has never resurfaced after his creepy lecture on the SI at the Tate and Lyle gallery in London in June 1989. Dumbo's stupid presentantion was disrupted by some of us. The Tate and Lyle called the police, 4 of us were taken away and released a few hours later because the Tate directors feared bad publicity. Dumbo did not prevent the filth from arresting us. He said from his pulpit "that's what you want". The liar left history for good and has probably rejoined his constructivist kennel (he likes to think he is an expert on such matters). his pet hates include Solidarity (the defunct ultra-left organisation) and the Gang of Four (the popsters from Leeds) who were part of the rightly named pro-situ doghouse: Infantile Disorder, with Dumbo. Dumbo owns a poodle called Oscar. We hope it bites him one day and runs away from such an authoritarian master. As for Vague he published a Stew Mobile-Home piece of shit on this Tate and Lyle intervention, but did not say what really took place. Home did not have the courage to sign his crap with his own name. He used the pseudonym Dick Arlen. For this reason we do not trust Vague and we loathe the national-bolsho-neoist crank Home.

ANARCHIST BORGFAIR HITS THE BUFFERS

DOWN WITH ANARCHY UK plc!

EXPLOITATION: The action of utilizing for self-ish purposes.

OLIGARCHY: Government by the few.

CARTEL: An association of business houses for the regulation of output, prices, etc.

HIERARCHY: A body of persons or things ranked in grades, orders or classes, one above the other.

LIKE CHUMBA-BUNGA BUT WITH BOOKS!

What is the anarchist bookfair for? Some think it is to advance the anarchist 'movement' (political aim) while others see it as social. The bookfair exists to sell books. And that's all it is, and all it ever will be. But for the sales imperative to work, the anarchist 'movement' must stay exactly as it is. More customers are welcome, more sales, more cash, but anarcho-capitalism dictates that the politics must not develop. All that rhetoric of revolution touted in magazines like Black Flag, and Freedom must stay 'exactly that-rhetoric'. It cannot become reality, for if it did, the cops would close Anarchy UK plc down, wiping out their book, poster and T-shirts sales, and destroying their position of hegemony.

COMMERCIAL SUBSIDY

Activists are entitled to cover their costs. Printers are entitled to be paid a fair price for their work. But it would be interesting to know just how many thousand pounds AK Press and Freedom really do make at the bookfair. Even though the Hampshire doctrine of guilt by association is false, I cannot get away from the feeling that the anarchist 'movement' as a whole is somehow tainted by its proximity and subordination to these commercializers.

All those glossy leaflets, brochures, primrose-yellow plastic carrier bags with 'Anarchist Book-fair' printed on them. Somebody subsidises all this, for it surely cost more than the £572 they claim was the bookfair take from the stall fees.

THE COMMERCIAL IMPERATIVE

What drives commercial outlets like AK, Freedom and Aldgate Press, is not commitment to anarchism but commitment to money. This much is self-evident. If they do indeed subsidize the Anarchist Bookfair, it is for good, solid, honest commercial reasons. It will no doubt be remembered that Ruth Lukon, of Aldgate Press, testified for the prosecution at the 1st Gandalf trial, on Wednesday 24th September 1997. No doubt this fact went unreported in Freedom at the time. The commercials, as principal shareholders in the bookfair, know they will get their investment back, in fresh print runs, and new anarchist magazines and book titles published. The Anarchist Bookfair keeps old Anarchy UK plc ticking over in just the same way as the petrol air mixture keeps an internal combustion engine going. But that isn't good for the planet.

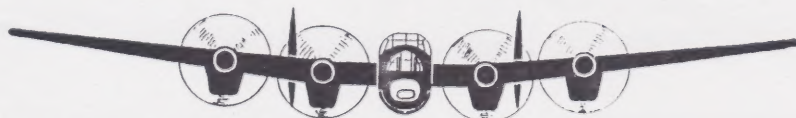

OLIGARCHY - A CARTEL ANSWERABLE TO NONE

They wanted it over two days, all the better to squeeze out the non-commercialists. Push them into a Sunday graveyard. See Freedom, 28th November 1998. So now, the bookfair hierarchs are back-peddalling like fuck, denying it was 'official' bookfair policy despite it being printed in the anarcho-establishment House Journal. Don't believe what you read in Freedom. The Cartel hierarchs deny that it is a hierarchy, but year on year it is always the same pariah groups in the lobby, and the same anarcho-capitalist cartel members in the main hall. Who are these people? Who appointed them to rule over the anarchist 'movement'? It's all about controlling and manipulating appearances to keep the money coming in.

RECYCLING—THE SOLUTION

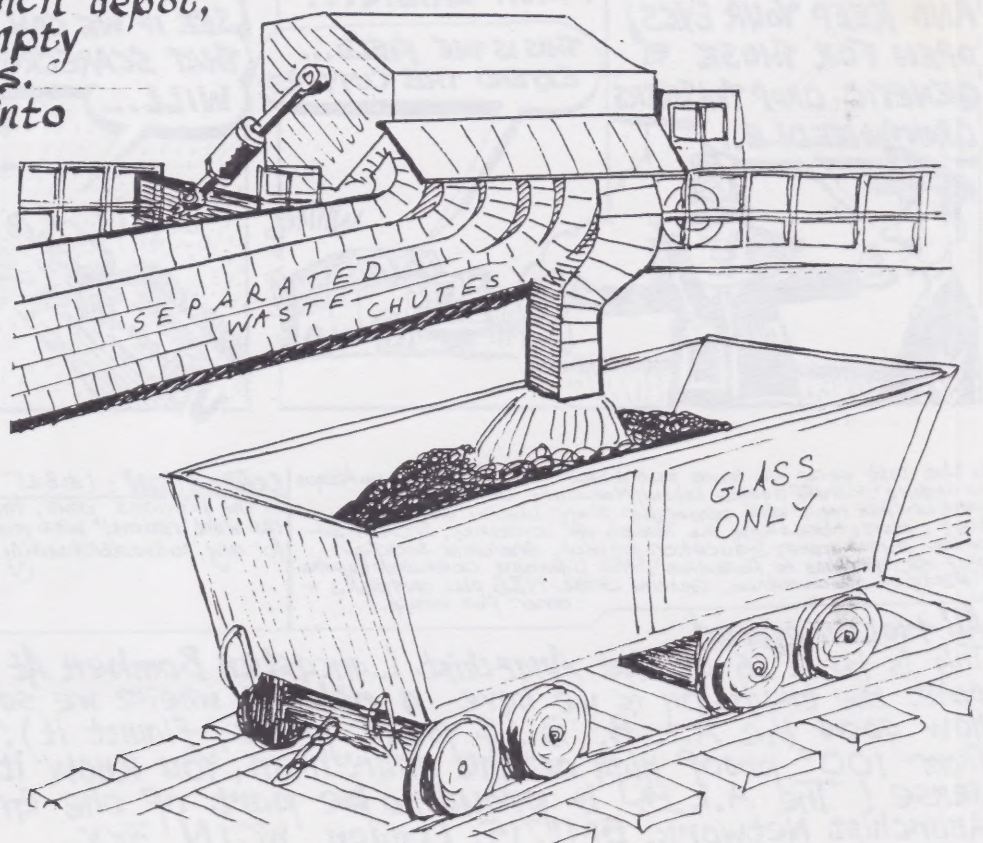

(1) The key to recycling is the separation of waste at the point of origin — in the kitchen, in the office or factory. Different colour containers are used, and all waste is colour coded. This is the only difficult part — persuading people to separate out their refuse at source. Education, Education, Education!

(2) The coloured containers are emptied into different colour-coded compartments in the bin lorry. If necessary, more staff are hired, more bin lorries are built. This creates jobs.

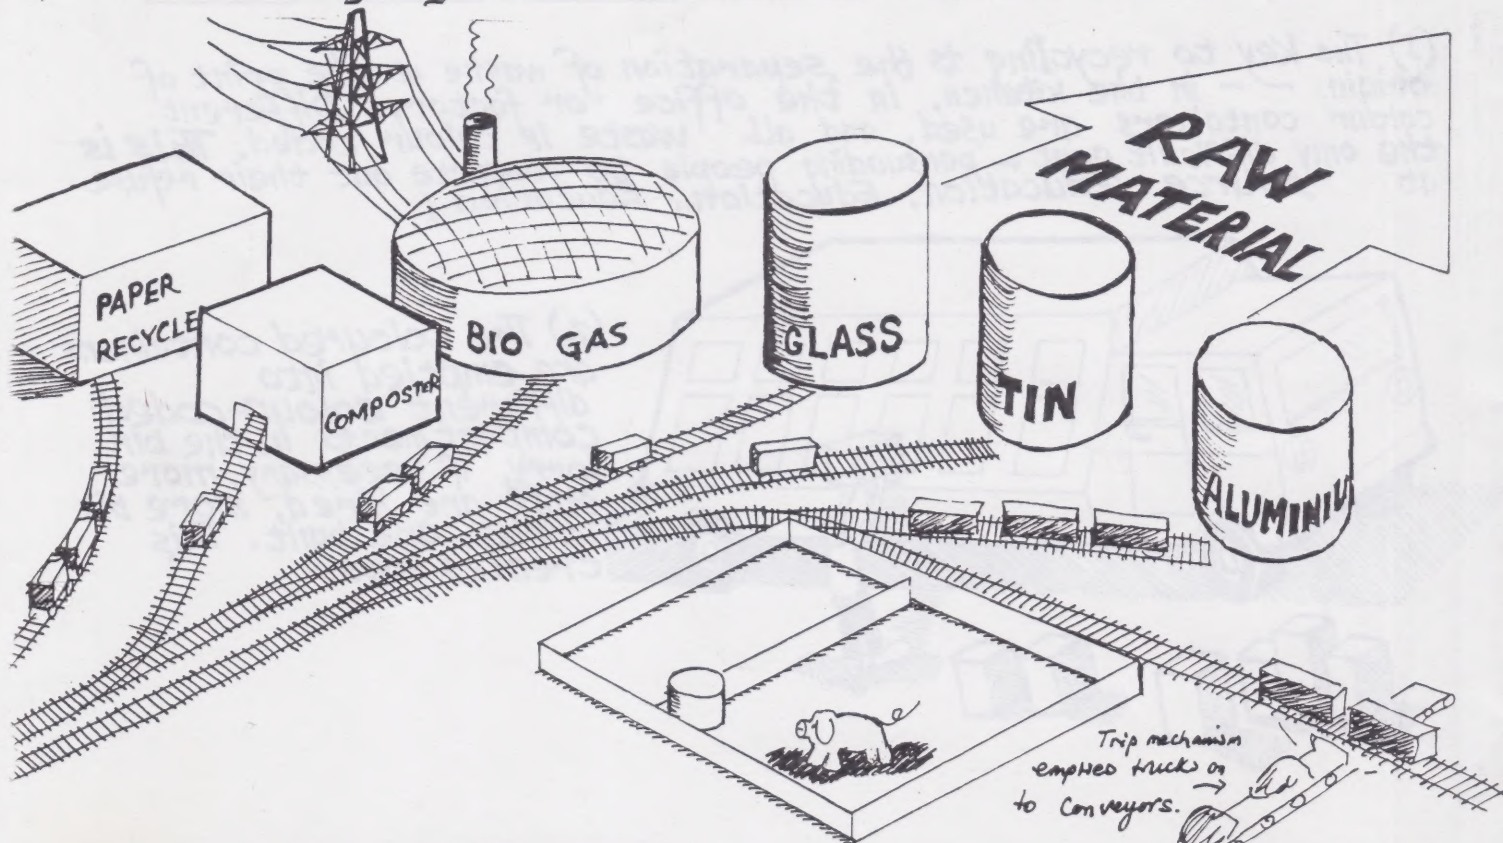

(3) At the local council depot, the bin lorries empty into separate chutes. The waste is loaded into railway skips.

Trains are used to keep the recycling traffic off the main roads.

The waggons are similar to railway coal trucks.

(4) The trains take the materials to the regional recycling centre, where it is fed into smelters, blast furnaces, recycling baths, bio-gas generators, composters, pig feeders, as appropriate. Plastic material is shredded up and compressed into blocks for use against coastal erosion. Plastic might also be turned into pellets for road and railway ballast. Raw materials thus reclaimed are sold on. Any money from this helps finance the recycling scheme...

In the last year we have published 'The Pink House keeps on Sliding', 'Stuff against Labour/Monsanto', John Moore's untitled fish tank anti censorship story, liberal anarchy on bust, news, 'Breaking the Teeth of Leviathan', Dick Frost on the social gene, Education project, Anarchist Bookfair 'Sag off', 'Portals to Paradise', the Lightning Conductor Hypothesis 'Tyranny of Structuredness', General Strike 1926 plus cartoons + other fun stuff...

CORRECTION: (ALB 25 page 7)

In the previous issue, the letter from Michel Pigent, 2nd paragraph the word 'rational' was misrendered as 'irational'. The ALB apologises for any misunderstanding thus caused.

All riots revered

This is issue 26 of the Anarchist Lancaster Bomber. At this point the tradition is we have a rideout where we say just how good the A.L.B. is. (If you've got it, flaunt it). Brewed from 100% proof high octane anarchy. You know it makes sense! The A.L.B. is proud to be part of the Green Anarchist Network, BM1715, London, WC1N 3XX.
